About Eastleigh Studio

My name is Stephen, and I am the owner of Eastleigh Studio. My passion lies in creating gardens that are truly unique and inspiring, and that will fulfil the requirements of my clients for years to come.

We have worked on all manner of projects; from small courtyard gardens, to gardens over an acre in size.

I believe everyone should have a garden they are proud of, and the garden design process should be inclusive and personalised. This is YOUR garden, and we aren't just going to tell you what to do with it. Your input is included at every step along the way.

We have been tailoring our service over the years, so that we can offer our design services to clients all over the world. We have countless case studies of this process in motion, with projects completed in; UK, Ireland, Switzerland and the USA.

WELCOME TO EASTLEIGH STUDIO

I just want to say a personal thank you for checking out my business and enquiring with us.

I believe a personal touch is important when working on such a project, and so I just wanted to personally introduce myself here, and hopefully we get to chat in more detail soon!

Your garden is a special space, and we understand that you may have reservations heading into the design process. Common concerns we hear from clients are:

- I am worried that I may be wasting money on a design I might not like?
- What if I change my mind on what I want from the garden after seeing the designs?

We hear you, and we want to put your mind at ease. These are all perfectly normal concerns to have before heading into a process such as this.

Our mission, is to make the garden design process as special as possible for you. Creating your new perfect garden should be a stress free and enjoyable experience. So to help achieve this, we want to take all of the worry and risk away from you.

To achieve this, we offer our 100% Satisfaction Guarantee. This means that you are guaranteed to love the final design, otherwise we will keep working with you, free of charge, until you do.

We have never left a client with a design they didn't love, and we never will.

Project Case Study

We were approached by a client who had just built a house in South Galway, Ireland. The house looked beautiful but the surrounding grounds were very much untouched, only covered with hardcore and chippings.

They were ready to transform the garden to finish off the perfect space and so they got in touch with us. They wanted a patio space for entertaining, ground levels fixed and the driveway to finish off the front of the property.

After an initial design consultation to discuss their wants and requirements from the new space, we got to work and created these 2 initial designs. Both utilising different materials and layouts but both fulfilling all requirements. We sent them both back and after reviewing, we set up another design consultation to discuss their feedback and what they were thinking now they had seen both designs against their property.

We discussed many different ideas, regarding pergolas, shelters, materials, construction methods, drainage, etc. and we came up with the general outline for what would soon become the first version of the final design.

After sending this back, we had a few little tweaks to make to planting spaces and the client also wanted a lighting scheme developing for the design.

We then brought the final design to life which is the design you see on the right.

The client opted for the premium package so included with the final design was: 3D images, video walkthrough, virtual tour, augmented reality tour and 360 panoramics.
